Dear shaun,

I have just received the email from [REDACTED]. I didnt have your email before and wasnt sure about the procedure. Im aware that i will lose my license ans I want you to know that I made a mistake and reacted. It is not like me to do that but none the less I done it. Im ex parachute regiment and upon getting this job I was in A very sticky situation to say the least. This jobe has given me back my mojo it has kept me very grounded and structured. I got 12 month probation and 120hrs unpaid work along with a fine ive not been in trouble with the law in over ren years and I dont ever want to be in trouble again. This job means everything to me and im scared that if I lose it then I may go back into depression and ptsd again which will no doubt hinder me. Im sorry for my actions.

Regards

Liam Calderbank
